

FIRE DESTROYS HIGH SCHOOL BUILDING; $30,000 LOSS

City School System Badly Crippled By Disasterous Conflagration Early Sunday Morning—Origin of Fire a Mystery—Insurance $15,500.

New Buildings Will Rise From Ashes of Old One—The City Council Will Hold Special Session Tonight to Act on the School Board's Petition.

A fire that—since the city is already bonded to its fullest extent and is $49,000 in debt—comes as a dire calamity, destroyed the First ward school building, in which the high school and the superintendent of the city schools had their quarters, early Sunday morning, entailing a heavy loss and crippling the city's school system for the balance of the term and possibly for months to come.

The origin of the fire is a mystery that probably will never be solved. The consensus of opinion is that the building was accidentally fired by some one inside. There is considerable discussion concerning the origin of the fire and some are of the belief that it was caused by high school boys, of unknown identity, who were in the building presumably to raise a class flag. Although this opinion prevails there is but little evidence to sustain it.

DISCOVERED BY GOWDY.

The fire was discovered by Hon. John K. Gowdy, formerly United States Consul General to Paris, France, who resides across the street from the building.

"I was awakened at 4:30," said Mr. Gowdy, "by the sound of falling glass. I thought that some one was trying to get into the house or into the residence of Samuel Innis, immediately north of us. I ran to the window of my bed room, which is on the north side of the house, and looked out. Smoke and flames were pouring from the third window to the north in room 3, on the lower floor. I ran to the other side of the house and called to my neighbors that the school building was on fire. I called my son-in-law, Mr. Mansfield, who asked the exchange, over the phone, to give him connections with the fire department. Central replied that the company had no connections there, and Mr. Mansfield let word for the operator to notify the department of the fire."

ALARM SOUNDED.

While Mr. Gowdy was calling the attention of his neighbors, Cicero Vance, who resides on East Sixth street, and who was on his way down town, was attracted to the fire. Mr. Vance called Will Bliss, who resides across the street, south from the building. Mr. Bliss had already arisen.

"When I ran from the house," said Mr. Bliss, "the flames were coming out of a window of room 3 on the lower floor. No other part of the building seemed to be on fire."

A. L. Riggs, Homer Havens, Guy Abercrombie, Frank Mull, Dr. W. C. Smith, Ben L. McFarlan and other residents in the neighborhood of the building were attracted by the calls of Messrs. Gowdy and Vance, and hastened into the street. Two alarms were turned in from box 24, corner Sixth and Perkins streets by Mrs. A. L. Riggs and her daughter, Mrs. Blanche Abercrombie, who ran out of the house in their night clothing, and Dr. W. C. Smith.

DEPARTMENT RESPONDS.

The fire department was quick to respond. The horses came up the street at a terrific pace and in a short time six lines of hose were laid and water was being thrown on the fire from various points of vantage. Before the department arrived the breeze coming from the northwest and going through the windows from which the glass had fallen, had fanned the fire into an immense furnace which roared and cracked as the flames swept through the building.

"When I reached the scene," Fire Chief Robinson said, "the fire had reached the cupola, so fast had it spread. We saw that it was impossible to get at the second floor and we turned all of the water into the building through the windows on the lower floor."

Fireman Andrew Stiffler, who reached the fire before the department, said: "The flames had reached the cupola when I arrived and were in the room in the northwest corner upstairs. The fire seemed to be everywhere at once."

FIRE ENGINE TAKEN TO SCENE.

The team of horses drawing the hose wagon, with driver Pugh, were sent back to the engine house after the fire engine which upon its arrival, was connected with the fire cistern in Sixth street, opposite the building.

MANY PEOPLE SEE FIRE.

The alarms brought hundreds of people to the scene. Many expressions of deep regret at the destruction of the school building were heard and many school children present lamented the loss of their books.

UNABLE TO SAVE BUILDING.

The fire had gained such headway that it was impossible to save the building. But few things were removed from it. Practically everything that the building contained was destroyed.

For forty minutes the firemen battled with the flames before they had them fully under control. The crowds remained about the building until 7 and 8 o'clock. The firemen continued throwing water on the ruins until 2 o'clock in the afternoon. A large number of people visited the scene of the fire Sunday and today. John Kirkpatrick, janitor of the building and George Abernathy were detailed by the police committee of the city council as special policemen, to keep the people away from the walls, which were badly cracked and which, it was feared, might fall. Ropes were stretched about the building and no one was permitted to enter the yard. A special policeman was on duty at the scene last night.

SUPT. SCHOLL TALKS.

Superintendent J. H. Scholl, of the city schools in discussing the fire said: "I was about the building as late as 10:30 Saturday night and everything seemed to be all right. Some one telephoned me of the fire and I reached the scene about 5 o'clock. Every room in the building was ablaze at that time except the three rooms on the north. The cupola was just falling as I came up."

"The fire is certainly a most disastrous one. All of the school records dating from the time Supt. Graham dedicated the building and continuing up to the present time were destroyed, together with eighty-six fine diplomas and $25 worth of fine commencement invitations. Everything in my office was destroyed. The high school circulating library with $1000 worth of books, together with $500 worth of valuable reference books were destroyed. The building and all its contents are practically a total loss. The piano and the three organs in the building were destroyed. The high school's physical laboratory, with its $500 worth of apparatus, is gone. Some books, however, were saved from Miss Madden's room and Miss Hayworth's room. They were practically all that was saved. The school board met while the fire was raging to ascertain the condition of the insurance policies. They were found to be in proper shape, having been kept paid and renewed at the proper time. I have no opinion as to how the fire originated. It is my opinion, however, that there will be no more school in the First ward this term. Miss Odear's room, farther up the street will go ahead as usual and school will be continued at the Third ward building. All of the teachers will meet Monday to make up the records that have been destroyed. I think they can come within five per cent. of the grades that were on the books. It is my opinion that all of the pupils will close up their term's work on the work that they have already done. They will probably be graded and promoted that way."

THINKS BUILDING WAS FIRED.

Gates Sexton, president of the school board, in discussing the fire expressed the opinion that the building was accidentally fired by high school boys, evidently in the building for the purpose of raising a class flag.

"We have had trouble with the boys all week," said Mr. Sexton, "and they had been warned to remain away from the building. The board had Mayor Hall detail Policeman Mike Gordon for duty at the school building and we had him on duty, on the inside, for forty-five nights this spring. There is always fire in the toilet rooms in the basement, but I do not think that the fire originated there. It seems to have started in room 3. Besides there was no fire in the building last night at all. I think that it was accidentally set afire by the boys. The board will investigate the matter thoroughly, although it is believed that an investigation will be of little avail."

Mr. Sexton estimates the total loss at $30,000. The total amount of insurance held on the building was $15,500. The insurance is apportioned as follows: Palatine, $3000; Franklin, $2500; Milwaukee Mechanics, $1500; Tontonia, $1500; Spring Garden, $1500; Ohio Farmers, $2000; German, $1500; Phoenix, $2000.

SAW BOYS WITH LANTERN.

About 9:30 p. m., Charles Kennedy, son of E. L. Kennedy, living at the corner of Seventh and Willow streets, and his brother Archie, while on their way home from the business section of the city, saw two boys, whom they did not recognize, on the corner of Perkins and Seventh streets in front of the residence of O. C. Brann. The boys had a railroad lantern, a bucket and a basket of lunch. It afterwards developed that these boys were waiting for Will Brann to prepare for a fishing expedition up the creek. The fishing party was composed of Will Brann, Walter Hubbard, Paul Harris and a young man named Ferguson.

SAW LIGHT UPSTAIRS.

The young men returned from their fishing trip at 1:40. When they passed the school house Paul Harris says Mr. Hubbard called their attention to a burning gas jet in the upstairs room in the northeast corner of the building. They thought little of the light and did not investigate.

FLAG ON CUPOLA.

Grant C. Gregg, ex-janitor of the school building, returned from the business district of the city shortly after 11 o'clock. "I walked up the street with Homer Havens," said Mr. Gregg, "and after talking with him for some time, I started on to my home. I noticed something protruding from the cupola of the school building and I thought it was a piece of tin. I stepped back to look at it again and I found that the object was a flag of some kind, presumably a class flag. I could tell by the moonlight that it was a flag, but I could not tell to what class it belonged. It was not raised on the flag staff, but had been tacked on a pole and the pole nailed to the cupola."

John T. Kirkpatrick, janitor, left the building about 10 o'clock and everything was apparently safe at that time.

Mr. Kirkpatrick lost about $75 worth of fine carpenter's tools.

SCHOOL BOARD MEETS.

The members of the School Board met at 7 o'clock this morning in the office of the president, Gates Sexton. The Board decided to petition the city council for a special election for the purpose of authorizing the Board to issue more bonds for the erection of two new buildings to cost at least $40,000. The members of the Board say that they have been advised to build another graded building and a new high school building and they are in favor of erecting buildings large enough to accommodate the increase in the number of school children for years to come. The Board this morning did not discuss the location of the new buildings, but one of them at least will rise from the ashes of the old one. The school officials realize the necessity of doing something at once and they have asked the city council to meet with them in special session tonight for the purpose of talking things over and taking some action on the petition. Mayor Hall has called ed the meeting which will be called to order at 7:30.

FIRST WARD SCHOOL DISMISSED.

The School Board at its meeting this morning decided to dismiss school in the First ward for the balance of the term. Miss Alma Odear will continue school in her room on Seventh street until the end of the term. There will also be school at the colored school and at the Third ward building. Although the Board took no action this morning toward any investigation into the cause of the fire, it is understood that it will do so. All of the members of the Board are of the opinion that the building was fired accidentally by some one inside. Fire Chief Robinson said yesterday that he will conduct an investigation himself in an effort to ascertain the manner in which the fire originated. The School Board will take no action toward having the ruins cleared away until everything is properly adjusted.

HAD BEEN BURNING AN HOUR.

Cicero Vance, Guy Abercrombie and Dr. W. C. Smith were the first persons to reach the building after the fire was discovered, but they were unable to save anything. Dr. Smith is of the opinion that the fire had been burning at least an hour before it was discovered. The doctor turned in the second alarm. Mrs. Riggs and Mrs. Abercrombie were turning in the first alarm as he ran toward the building.

The fire—although it may not have been started by the high school boys—should be a lesson to high school boys in the future. No more class scraps should be held around the building.

Almost all of the teachers sustained severe personal losses in the shape of reference books and other belongings, which were destroyed.

A singular incident of the fire was the fact that the clock in room 6 on the lower floor and in the southwest corner of the building, continued running throughout the day, Sunday. Remaining as it did in action, it was but a symbol of better things to come. The fire might have been much worse than it was. Had the building been destroyed while school was in progress more or less lives might have been lost before the school children could reach a place of safety.

Sparks from the fire and pieces of burnt paper and even slate was carried as far south as the Circleville school house. There was some coal in the basement of the building and when it took fire there was trouble in extinguishing the blaze. The firemen worked at a disadvantage for there was fear that explosions might result from the chemicals in the laboratory. There were some slight explosions but none of any consequence.

The fine pictures presented to the school by the classes of '04 and '05 were destroyed, as were many other pictures of value that adorned the walls of the high school assembly room.

The First ward building was erected in the year 1869. School opened there Oct. 4th of that year. Prof. David Graham was the first superintendent. He says that at that time there were six rooms in the building, four being on the lower floor and two on the upper one. An addition was built to the building about the year 1880, by E. O. Dale. The addition consisted of four rooms. The building has been altered until at the time it was destroyed there were thirteen rooms, besides the library and superintendent's office. Mr. Graham feels grieved over the destruction of the building. He taught there until 1883, and he says that every year was a most happy one. When Mr. Graham taught the high school the two rooms on the east side, upstairs, comprised one room. The high school occupies this room Mr. Hodgins, of Richmond, succeeded Mr. Graham as superintendent and he was succeeded by James Baldwin, and then followed by E. H. Butler, who was succeeded by Samuel Abercrombie. After Mr. Abercrombie's death, A. G. McGregor conducted the schools. Mr. McGregor was succeeded by J. H. Scholl, the present incumbent.

A large number of the residents of Rushville and Rush county received at least a part of their education in the building. Many, as they viewed the ruins Sunday, recalled the good times that they had when they went to school and played games at recess in the school yard. Not a few of them recalled times when they had been called before the superintendent and reprimanded or whipped. It is most unfortunate that the fire occurred since the city is so heavily in debt.

$50,000 FIRE AT INDIANAPOLIS

Fire Ruins the Plant of the Armstrong Surgical Instrument Co.

[Special to the Daily Republican.]

Indianapolis, May 7.—Fire in the basement and first floor of the William H. Armstrong Surgical Instrument company, 224 and 226 S. Meridian street, damaged the establishment to the extent of $50,000, shortly before 8 o'clock this morning.

Fifteen girls employed by the Indianapolis Paper Box company, which occupies the second and third floors of the building, rushed terror-stricken from the burning structure. All escaped uninjured, though the stairway crush for a time threatened injury to many.

The blaze started near the furnace in the rear of the basement. When it was first seen the smoke was pouring up the rear stairway.

WATSON IS IN GREAT DEMAND

Receives Several More Invitations to Deliver Addresses.

Representative Watson is in demand as a commencement orator. During the last few days he has received ten invitations to deliver commencement addresses in Indiana, including invitations from Moores Hill College, Vincennes University and the law department of Indiana University.

While Mr. Watson is a thorough Pythian he regrets very much the necessity of leaving Washington at this time and he says he would not have accepted the invitation to deliver the address at the Pythian Temple dedication tomorrow, if Governor Hanly had not joined in urging him to come.

"I could not refuse the Governor, for the time may come when I will need executive clemency," he said.

CHURCH NEWS

Rev. W. P. McGarey preached two able sermons at the United Presbyterian church yesterday. At morning service his text was, "A Little Leaven Leaveneth the Whole Lump." In the evening he preached from the text, "Whatsoever a Man Soweth, that Shall he also Reap." A collection of $32.00 was taken for the relief of the United Presbyterian churches in San Francisco. At the close of the evening service a meeting was held for the purpose of taking steps toward a more effective organization of the church work.

The following is the program of the Sunday school convention to be held in the M. E. church at Glenwood, May 13th: Opening exercises, led by County President.

Singing by audience. Paper by Miss Lucy Hall, subject, "Difficulties of Teaching." Discussion led by president. Primary Work, Mrs. R. P. Cook. Singing. Talk by Rev. Alphonso Bever. Singing.

Address by Rev. McGarey, subject, "The Qualifications of a Teacher." Closing.

SHOT DEAD AT THE BAR

Two Brothers Killed and a Third Wounded at Newpoint, Decatur County.

Pleasant, or "Buck" Land, aged 40, and Winfield Land, aged 35, brothers, are dead and Jeff Williams is probably fatally injured as the result of a shooting affray in Carr's saloon at Newpoint, Decatur county, eight or nine miles east of Greensburg, on the Big Four railroad.

The Land brothers, it is alleged, were desperate characters. It is reported that frequently during the past weeks they ordered drinks in the saloon, after which they flourished revolvers and refused to pay for the same. Saturday night they stirred up a row. It is claimed, though Garfield Williams tried to pacify them with drinks. They quarreled with Jeff Williams and Pleasant Land drew his gun when the former tried to remonstrate with them. The ball struck Williams in the right cheek and ranged back to the base of the skull, where it lodged.

Garfield Williams and William Bare then opened fire on Pleasant Land, who fell with five bullets in his body.

Winfield Land had drawn his gun in the meantime but his bullets went wild. He soon fell with a ball through his head but he crawled out of the door and up the street for a square. He died at 7 o'clock Sunday night. Garfield Williams and William Bare went to Greensburg Sunday night, and surrendered to Sheriff Biddinger. Public sentiment is with the prisoners. Citizens of Newpoint say they will raise $10,000 bonds for the release of William and Bare.

PLAY GAME TO A TIE SCORE

Rushville and Shelbyville Teams Battle For Ten Innings—Locals New Management.

The Rushville and Shelbyville base ball teams battled for ten innings Sunday afternoon at the South Main street park to a tie. The game was stopped in the tenth inning to allow the visiting team to catch a train for home. The score was 9 to 9. Yazel, Simpkins and Schaltz formed the battery for Rushville, while Howard, Bennett and Orr did the battery work for Shelbyville. About four hundred people were out to see the game.

Lawrence Geraghty and Ed Carter have resigned as manager and captain of the local team respectively. Will O'Neal becomes manager. Carter will play with Shelbyville. The donations received by the local team so far have hardly been sufficient to pay expenses.

WOMAN DENOUNCES QUAYLE IN PULPIT

A large audience at St. James' Methodist church was thrown into excitement Sunday evening when the pastor, the Rev. William A. Quayle, who lectured in Rushville recently, was denounced at the close of his sermon by a woman who rose from a pew in the center of the house and declared the pastor to be an "ignorant man, preaching of things of which he knew nothing." The woman said that she had heard much praise of Quayle, had come to hear him preach, but was greatly disappointed in him. She left the church amid loud strains from the organ. The organist tried to drown the woman's voice by playing a hymn.

The high school base ball team defeated the Connersville school at Connersville Saturday afternoon, with McGuire in the box, by a score of 6 to 2.

COUNTY BOARD OF REVIEW NAMED

J. M. Amos and R. W. Cox Are Named as Members by Judge Sparks.

As the assessors have about completed their duties, it will soon be time for the Board of Review to begin work on the assessments of corporations and the appeal cases which will be called to its attention. Judge Sparks, of the Rush circuit court, last Saturday, made known his appointments of the two free-holders of the county who will serve on the board.

Judge Sparks named Robert W. Cox and J. M. Amos as members of the board. These men were members last year. County Assessor Newsom, County Auditor Winship and County Treasurer Blackledge are the other members.

INVESTIGATION OF CONDITIONS

At Orange to be Made by the Post Office Department.

The order to discontinue the Orange postoffice recently issued by the department at Washington, caused quite a stir in that thriving village. The residents of Orange and vicinity who are patrons of the office have been in almost constant correspondence with the postoffice departmental officials and also with Congressman Watson, since the order was issued and they have at last been apprised that the government would investigate thoroughly the existing conditions before taking final action. This order is in accord with the wishes of Postmaster Samuel Tuttle and the Orange patrons and they feel that the postoffice will most likely continue to do business at the same old stand when the facts are known.

GETTING A LINE ON IT

Six-Months Poll Expected to Show
Something of Political Situation.

Indianapolis, Ind., May 7.—The six-months poll of the state was commenced today by the Republican organization under the direction of Chairman Goodrich. He has sent letters of instruction to the officers of all the county committees and to the precinct committeemen. A thorough poll is desired in order that a line may be obtained on the exact political conditions. The Democrats will take a poll, but it will not be as thorough as that of the Republicans. They always trust more or less to luck and are never as well informed as their opponents. Men who become residents of the state after today will not be entitled to a vote on election day, as the law provides they must live in the state six months. The six-months poll serves as a registration of the voters as well as furnishing information as to the sentiment of the voters. The Republican poll-takers, as usual, have received special instructions to look after the first voters and to send in a very complete list of them. The list is to include as many as possible who will be first voters in 1908, so that the state committee may send them literature showing why they should support the Republican ticket. The missionary work begun among them now is expected to bear fruit in future campaigns. It is very likely that the poll will show to some extent the feeling of the voters toward Governor Hanly, although there will be no effort to take a straight-out Hanly and anti-Hanly poll.

A decision as to the validity of the Moore liquor reconstrance law enacted at the last session of the legislature will be rendered by the supreme court by the time the state campaign opens. That is the present plan, according to a hint given by one of the big Republican politicians today. The political significance of the order of the court a few days ago for the immediate filing of briefs in a case appealed from Roanoke to determine the constitutionality of the law has not dawned on the average party worker. The matter seems to have almost entirely escaped attention in political circles, yet it was intimated today that it may become one of the important features of the campaign. The Republicans did not declare for any further restrictions of the liquor traffic in their recent platform, and there is an understanding among the leaders that there shall be no changes made by the legislature next winter, but there seems to be a feeling among the insiders that the supreme court will do something important on the subject in time for the benefits to be reaped before election day. The party leader who made the statement today that it is the intention of the supreme court to render a decision before the campaign is opened, also predicted that the law will be declared constitutional. Up to this time the supreme court of Indiana have given the anti-saloon element the benefit of all doubt where the Nicholson and kindred laws were being tested, and it seems to be the general opinion that the Moore law will also be sustained.

Republican leaders of the Second district expect to have a large gubernatorial boom under way for James M. Emission, a Vincennes attorney and politician. They say that Emission measures up to the office and that with his district solidly behind him he will make a strong race. They insist that the Republicans have not nominated a governor from the southern half of the state for many years, and that it is time they were being substantially recognized. Emission says he is highly honored by the mention of his name for the office, but he is not ready to state whether he will be a candidate. An announcement from him, however, is not expected at this time, as his friends are merely feeling their way to see what support they might pick up. Emission is not so well acquainted over the state as Attorney General Charles W. Miller and Lieutenant Governor Hugh Th. Miller, who are regarded as prospective candidates, yet he has a large circle of very warm personal friends who could make him a formidable quantity. Emission has the distinguished air of a Southern gentleman of the old school, is an excellent lawyer, polished orator and shrewd politician—a combination which his friends are quite sure will enable him to give a good account of himself if he enters the race.

Chairman Goodrich will probably name the members of the executive committee of the Republican state committee within the next fortnight. He will probably consult the wishes of the candidates on the state ticket before the committee is completed. He will also name a finance committee during the next few days.

THE PEOPLES' HOPES

Are Pinned Upon This First Experiment
In Representative Government
In Russia's History.

The Czar Will Open the Assembly
With All the Pomp and Ceremony of Medieval Times.

St. Petersburg, May 7.—The national assembly of Russia to which so many hopes for the future of this country are pinned will be convened at the Tauride palace on Thursday, May 10. Never before in the history of Russia has there been an assembly which, with the sanction and approval of the government, has represented the people. It would therefore appear to be an experiment upon the outcome of which will depend the future of Russia.

The national assembly or douma was granted by the emperor Aug. 19 last, and according to the official announcement, "is established for the preliminary study and discussion of legislative propositions, which according to the fundamental laws, go up through the council of the empire to the supreme autocratic authority." The composition of the council of the empire or upper house, one-half appointed by the emperor and one-half elected from the nobility and clergy, would seem sufficiently pliable to block the douma should it be in opposition to the crown.

IVAN ILICH PETRUNKEVICH.
[Mentioned as leading candidate for

In the manifesto issued on March 6, 1906, was an innocent looking provision placing beyond the jurisdiction of parliament and consigning for consideration to commissions of the council of the empire the reports of the minister of finance, charges of malfeasance against officials of the government, the establishment of stock companies with special privileges and questions relating to entailed estates, titles of nobility, etc. The government retains the power to promulgate "temporary" laws during the recesses of parliament, and as the parliament is subject to dissolution by imperial ukase, the government is in a position in time of stress to rid itself of any obnoxious legislature and proclaim such laws as it deems necessary.

Three hundred and seventy-one members have been elected to the assembly, of which the Constitutional Democrats have a clear working majority. The oath to be taken by the members is "we promise to perform our duties to the best of our knowledge and ability in all loyalty to his majesty and mindful only of the welfare of Russia."

The first and all important matter to come up will be the agrarian problem, and recent dispatches from St. Petersburg seem to indicate that the government will work in accord with the assembly in this matter by proposing the formation of a parliamentary commission to elaborate plans for an agrarian project. This will practically mean the acceptance of the decision of the Constitutional Democrats.

The program of ceremonies at the winter palace, where the emperor will deliver the speech from the throne, has been arranged with all the glitter and pomp of a solemn state function. The idea of an informal opening in order to diminish the importance of the position of parliament having been abandoned. The entire imperial family, with the ladies and gentlemen of the court, the former in ancient Russian costumes and the latter in court dress, ministers, generals, admirals, marshals of the nobility and such governors general and military commanders as are in St. Petersburg, the mayors and city council of St. Petersburg and Moscow and members of the holy synod are commanded to attend.

The new cabinet has announced a policy of hands off, practically saying that the parliament shall have carte blanche, and that so long as it does not attempt to meddle with the fundamental laws of the empire the parliament will be allowed to offer its own solution for the crying agrarian problem. With this attitude of the government, if it is sincerely carried out, the Constitutional Democrats for the present are content. They believe their final victory when the emperor will be forced to grant a constitution is not far off—a few months at most—especially if in the meantime they are permitted to accomplish something tangible which will strengthen them with the country.

THE PARTY PAPER

(The following expression of opinion is by Arthur A. Hargrave, editor of the Rockville Republican. It is one of a series of signed editorials prepared by Republican newspaper men of the state, for the publication of which in this paper arrangements have been perfected.)

Independent papers—that is, those which support this or that party according as they find it most to their pecuniary advantage to do so—are taking considerable delight in the passing of the long famous Indianapolis Sentinel. For three-quarters of a century the Sentinel advocated the principles of the Democratic party and at times wielded a vast influence in this state. In many a campaign it led its party to victory. It was not always reputable in its methods and Republicans denounced it bitterly when in its palmy days it fairly spit venom in its rage against Republicanism and Republican officials. The independents are now pointing to its death and proclaiming that this indicates the rapid passing of all party organs and proceed thereupon to exalt their own horns (sometimes they are the devil's horns poorly concealed) and declare that the independent press is the whole thing and the only truly good thing in newspaperdom.

We don't believe a word of it. Ours is a government of parties. Voters have got to line up somewhere in some way. Men will differ in their ideas of government and political principles, which is really the same thing. Those who think and believe alike make up the party. If they are sincere they want others to see like themselves in order that their ideas may be put into laws and executed. This creates the demand for the party paper or "organ," if you please. Ever since the early days of our government, when radical differences arose as to the proper theory of a representative government such as ours, there have been party papers. There never has been a party, large or small, that has not had its advocates among public prints. No party exists today that is not being sustained and supported by its newspapers.

It happens just now that the Republicans and Democrats of Indiana have no great party papers at Indianapolis as they did when the Journal and Sentinel formerly existed, but these parties now have many more papers—in every city or town of any size dailies, in every county weeklies—whose combined influence is a thousand times more powerful than those great papers ever exerted in their most influential days. And this is true for at least two strong reasons: The editors of these modern papers are as highly educated and are as bright as the editors of those defunct organs ever were, and the combined circulations of the present day papers exceed the others by many, many thousands, we dare say more than a hundred thousand.

We are willing to concede that the party paper is more independent than it once was and it is not so bitterly partisan. But the party paper stands for something. It may not be just right, but it is honest in its contention and it tries to lead its readers in that direction. The independent paper stands primarily for the counting room. This campaign it favors Republican candidates and advocates their election for some secret reason it dare not publish, but you may be sure there is "something in it" for the paper itself or its owner individually. The next campaign it is quite as likely to be found advocating the nominees of the Democratic party, for some reason not made known, and generally, like the Irishman's flea, when you go to put your finger on it it is somewhere else. We defy any man to tell whether the Indianapolis News will favor Republicans or Democrats in the next city campaign.

There is a better reason for the passing of the old Indianapolis party organs than that assigned by the independents. It is a business reason—the destructive competition that has prevailed there for the past ten or fifteen years. More than one fortune has been lost in our capital city in the newspaper business in that time. For some inscrutable reason men who have been trained in other lines and made money in other businesses imagine they can run a newspaper. They try it and while as a rule they fail, yet sometimes they succeed, but at a tremendous cost to themselves and usually by the death of competitors. Each year it seems the pace is growing hotter and it is resulting in many places in the elimination of all papers except two, either as at Terre Haute and Indianapolis leaving a morning and evening daily without straight political or in many smaller cities one Republican and one Democratic paper.

The party paper, however, is not going. It will be here as long as there are parties whose principles need advocating.

George W. Cromer of Muncie has been renominated for congress from the Eighth district by primary election. He carried every county except Madison. This is the district where so much bitterness was alleged in the congressional contest a few weeks ago. It is interesting to know that Mr. Stilwell, who made a good race against Mr. Cromer for the nomination, publicly declares the contest was fairly conducted. The supposed-bitter feeling has vanished, and the reliable old Eighth may be depended upon to roll up its customary big Republican majority.

TAKE TIME TO EAT

Hurry at Meals will Send You to F. B. Johnson for Mi-o-na Tablets.

"Eat in haste and repent at leisure" is an old saying brought up to date.

Hurry at breakfast means a bad start for the day, and if you hurry also at the other meals, you will suffer with loss of appetite, sleeplessness, nervousness, furred tongue, specks before the eyes, headaches, back-aches, weakness and debility, indigestion, or other ills that are caused by an abused stomach.

Here in Rushville, as in thousands of other places over the country, hurry at meals increases the druggist's business.

Not a day passes that F. B. Johnson & Co. do not sell several packages of Mi-o-na stomach Tablets to those who have ruined their digestion by not taking time to eat.

F. B. Johnson & Co. have seen so many cures made by Mi-o-na that they sell it under an absolute guarantee that it will be successful in every case where it is used in accordance with directions, that is, one tablet before each meal, and will refund the money to anyone whom it does not help. A large box of Mi-o-na Tablets costs but 50 cents if it cures; nothing if it fails.

A liquid cold cure for children that is pleasant, harmless, and effective is Bee's Laxative Honey and Tar. Superior to all other cough syrups or cold remedies because it acts on the bowels. An ideal remedy for Coughs, Colds, Croup, Whooping Coughs and all curable lung and bronchial affections. Sold by Lytle's Drug Store, Limited to Legitimate Drug Business.

Thirty-two years ago the brothers lived together on a farm in Jay county when the elder brother left home and they have not seen each other since, the whereabouts of R. C. In a few days Mr. Chapman will leave for Clarion and he will be accompanied by Russell Chapman, a son of the elder Chapman, who has been making his home with his uncle here since the disappearance of his father, thirty-two years ago.

It is Now Almost Certain There Will Be No Hard Coal Strike.

Scranton, Pa., May 7.—Nothing has developed to disturb the general belief that a strike of the anthracite mine workers has been averted. While President Mitchell would prefer an agreement for two years, both he and the other members of the committee, it is understood, will bow to the wishes of the operators and accept an agreement for three years if the latter so desire it.

RESOLVED!
THAT SOME PEOPLE DON'T KNOW
HOW TO DRESS THEMSELVES, WHY
DON'T THEY GO TO A SHOP THAT MAKES A SPECIALTY OF DRESS-
ING PEOPLE? WHEN YOU ARE SICK
YOU DON'T DOCTOR YOURSELF. YOU DON'T DO YOUR OWN LAW BUSINESS.
WHY NOT LET THOSE WHO KNOW
HOW DRESS YOU.
BUSTER BROWN.

Yes, a business man is just as much a "professional" man as is a lawyer or a doctor. There are good lawyers and doctors and bad ones. You go to the doctor who has a reputation. When you are clothes-sick why not come to the merchant who knows what to prescribe for you? Our reputation is our diploma. Ask our patrons whether or not we have given them clothes that have cured them from looking bad and made them feel good. Ask them if we have overcharged them. Judge for yourself.

If your old suit needs just a "little tonic"—necktie, collars, and cuffs, shirts, hosiery and underwear, we have that too.

No one likes medicine that tastes bad when he takes it. We try to sugar-coat all of our medicine with polite attention to every patron,

Respectfully,
